Hello from our Advisory Board ...

Over the next few newsletters we wanted to introduce ourselves as members of the Advisory Board at Braunstone Community Primary School. Our school Advisory Board currently has seven people from a range of backgrounds, all of whom volunteer their time and expertise to support the school.

The Advisory Board plays a role in helping to develop the school and ensuring that it meets the needs of the children. We act as a 'critical friend' for the school by supporting, providing advice and challenging in a constructive way. The Advisory Board consists of parents, staff and members of the community. Over the next few months we hope to tell you more about our role and how we are helping the school to move forward.

Lauren Charlton

I am the Chair of BCPS's Advisory Board. I started as a parent governor at my children's school and then became a Trustee of a local Multi-Academy Trust soon after. I have been on the Advisory Board here at BCPS for two years, taking over as Chair a year ago. I have worked in education for nearly 10 years and currently work with children who are not able to access mainstream education as a result of exclusion or additional learning needs. I am passionate about supporting every child and young person to persevere and succeed, which mirrors the values here at BCPS.

As an advisory board we support the school in providing the best possible outcomes for our children and I am proud to work alongside such an incredible leadership team as well as the other board members to ensure all our children at BCPS have access to a high quality education.
